

RUNAWAY OHIO WATER HEADS DOWNSTREAM

President Flies Over Flooded Areas

By United Press International President Johnson planned a low level flight today over Ohio River flood waters which have driven nearly 50,000 persons from their homes and inflicted the worst damage on the valley in 20 years.

The President invited the governors of seven afflicted states—Kentucky, West Virginia, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Ohio, and Pennsylvania—to make the flight with him from Pittsburgh to Missouri.

Afterwards, the President planned to confer at Cincinnati with the governors on what can be done to aid the flood-ravaged area.

Thousands of valley residents forced from their homes waited for the third highest crest of the century along the muddy, debris-choked stream.

The Ohio reached its crest at Cincinnati Thursday. Rains were expected to slow down the water's return to its banks.

In Indiana, Kentucky and southern Illinois, farm folks and city people, part of the more than 47,000 routed from their homes, waited and watched as the runaway water slipped over their crop lands and front yards. Louisville expected a crest at 18.3 feet above "flood stage" today—the third highest of this century.

Upstream the crisis was past but the damage remained. Up-rooted families started moving back into water soaked homes in parts of Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia.

The American Red Cross estimated more than 110,000 persons have been affected by the flooding, and the Army Engineers said damage could push past $200 million.

In Indiana, workers readied shelters as the crest rolled into the eastern corner of the state. At Aurora, Ind., 8 feet of water rolled into river front buildings.

At Cincinnati, a Red Cross disaster director said "it looks rather rough." About 700 persons were in Red Cross shelters and others sought refuge with friends and relatives.

National Guardsmen and volunteers finished off the sealing of the massive floodwall at Louisville Thursday and helped scores of families from their river-threatened homes.

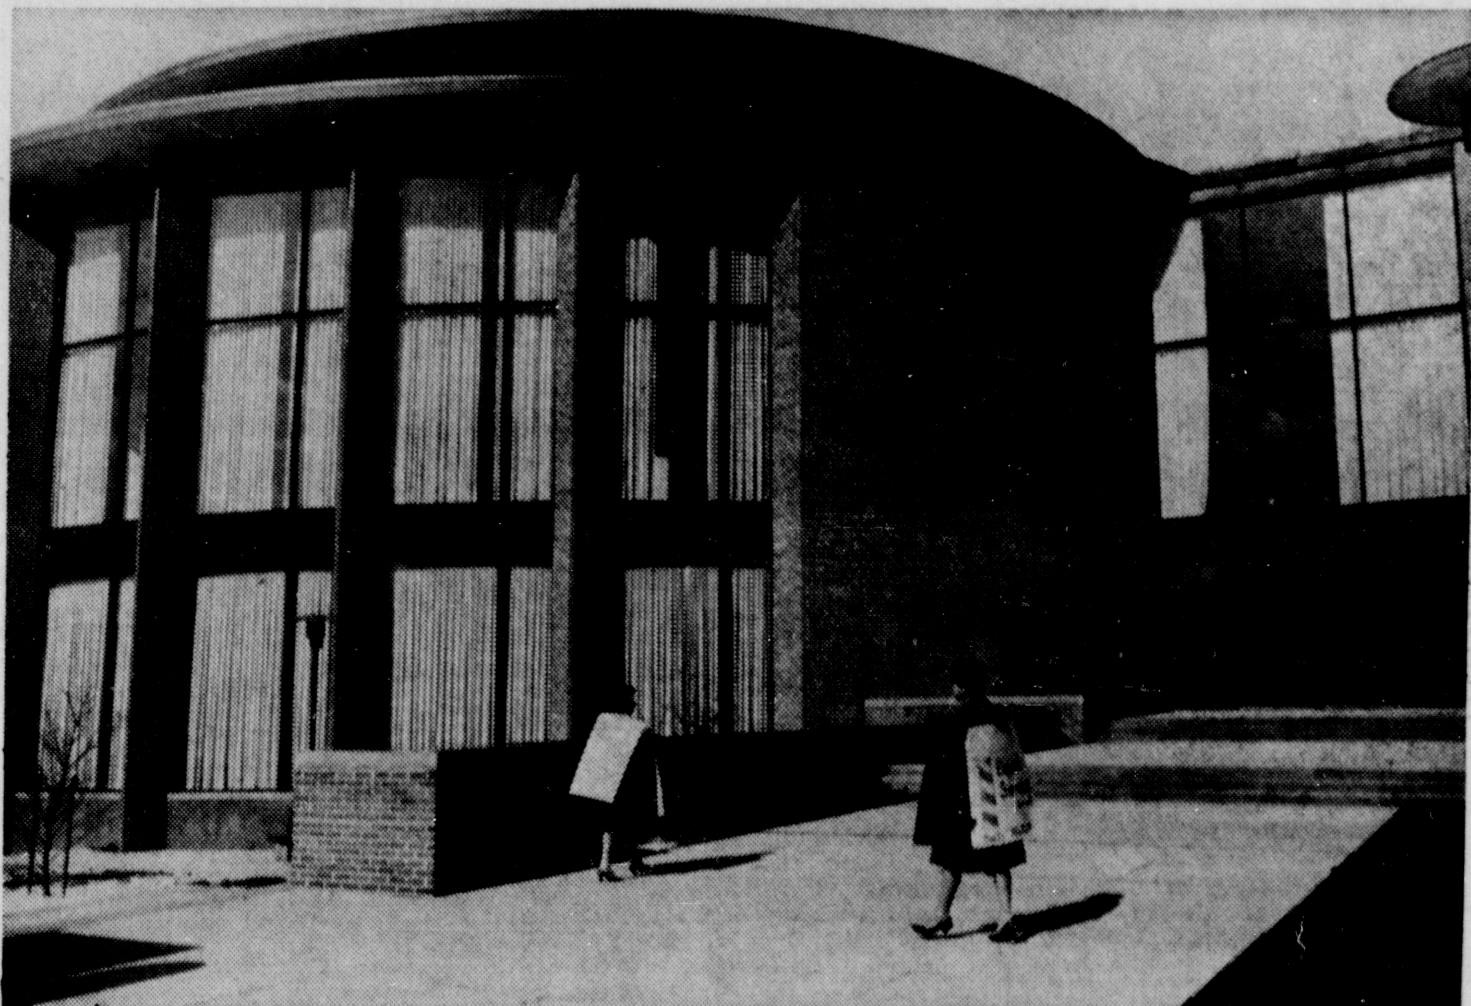

About 3,000 persons fled their homes in the suburbs, beyond the protection of Louisville's floodwall. Red Cross shelters housed more than 300 persons.

In Washington, the Small Business Administration designated flood-ravaged sections of seven states as disaster areas, including parts of Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Missouri.

With rivers starting to recede in the uplands, the danger zone shifted downstream to northern Kentucky, southern Indiana and southern Illinois.

The Coast Guard sent seven 16-foot rescue boats to Evansville, Ind., where the NCAA small college basketball tournament was in progress. The Ohio (Continued on Page 4, Col. 1)

Pickets At Court House

Two Bucks County NAACP members picket this morning in front of the Bucks County Court House, Doylestown. They are Mrs. Carolyn Asness (left) and chairman Mrs. Rochelle Ford, both members of the direct action committee. The pickets' signs asked that democracy be kept working and that law should prevail. (Courier-Times Photo)

Discrimination Hearings Against Two

Barber Shop Case Opens

The attorneys for two Yardley barbers today asked that charges of racial discrimination ruled against them be withdrawn because of a legal technicality.

John W. Dean, attorney for Charles Gallagher, said since the complaint against Gallagher had not been sworn to in the presence of a notary public, it was not legal.

The charge had been brought before the Pennsylvania Human Rights Commission by Millard C. Mitchell, a Negro who lives in Yardley. Mitchell claimed Gallagher had refused to cut his hair because he is a Negro. A similar charge was made against the other barber, Charles Lee.

Lee's lawyer, Daniel L. Lawler, also asked this charge be dropped for the same reason.

Both lawyers claimed since the alleged discrimination took place on Oct. 8, a complaint could not now be made because the statute of limitations limits such complaints to 90 days.

The three-man committee from the commission decided to defer a decision on the petition. In the meantime, the chairman, Joseph X. Yaffe, allowed the hearing to continue.

Earlier, the commission overruled an objection by the two attorneys that the hearing should be held before at least a quorum of commission members. A quorum would be six.

Otherwise, Lawler said the hearing would amount to a "hearing by proxy."

Record Kept
Yaffe said the commission did not have to go by the usual court rules. A stenographic record was being kept in event of appeals, he said.

The public hearing, held in Bucks County Courthouse, Doylestown, came after attempts to settle the case by "means of conference and persuasion" had failed, a commission spokesman said.

To Full Commission
The spokesman said that the findings of the hearing would be presented to the full commission. The commission will then decide whether the allegations are true.

If the commission decides there was discrimination, it could recommend that a cease and desist order be issued. In the event the order is not obeyed by Lee and Gallagher, the commission could go to court to get it enforced.

The hearing was recessed this morning until 2:15 p.m. today.

The defense also tried unsuccessfully to get the two cases heard separately. Lawler said the reasons for Lee's and Gallagher's refusing service were different.

Nathan Agran, attorney for the commission, said "This is too great a problem in Yardley for it to be postponed."

Mitchell was first questioned by Agran. Mitchell said he tried to get his hair cut at Lee's shop Oct. 8 last year. The shop is about three blocks from his home, 144 Pennsylvania Ave., Yardley, he said.

Same Distance
Gallagher's shop is about the same distance away and there are no other barber shops in Yardley, Mitchell said.

Mitchell said he normally went to a barber shop in Trenton. "I didn't see the purpose of having to travel six miles on a bad day when it was raining, when everytime I go past these shops, they are empty."

"When I go to Trenton I sometimes have to wait for three hours," he said.

Mitchell said Lee asked him (Continued on Page 8)

Nice Weather For Baseball

If only the Phillies weren't in Florida.

It'd be a great day for baseball here tomorrow. At least the weatherman promises sunny skies and temperatures in the 60s.

Spring, of course, is only a week away with its official debut at 9:10 a.m. next Friday.

Rain tomorrow night and Sunday morning will put a damper on the weekend before clearing skies should prevail again Sunday afternoon.

From this morning's low of 31, the thermometer began a climb toward an expected high in the 50s. At 3 p.m. the reading was 45 degrees.

On The Inside

IT'S THAT TIME AGAIN — Homeowners are turning thoughts to spring repairs and a three-page spread on improvements can be found on Pages 15, 16 and 17.

KEEP ON ROLLING — That's the theme Bristol High School will carry into a crucial state championship game tonight. Page 18.

ANOTHER NEW FACE — Another local high school has changed football coaches. Page 18.

INDEX

Amusements	12, 13	Obituaries	36
Building	15-17	School Menues	9
Classified	30-37	Sports	18-20
COINWORD	13	Stocks	9
Comics	38, 39	TV Review	12
Editorials	6	TV Schedule	39
Editorial Features	7	Women's News	10, 11
Jacoby On Bridge	12
Junior Reporter	38
Movies	2

Classified No. WI 3-1000
Night Classified WI 6-4600

'Unfair,' Say Fairless Works Pickets

Members of the International Organization of Masters, Mates and Pilots picket U.S. Steel's Fairless Works. They're protesting the use of non-union officers and crew aboard the company owned SS Columbia. Pickets are also at the plant's other two gates. (Courier-Times Photo)

Dispute Closer Phila. Port

Union Protests Steel Ship, Fairless Works Is Picketed

The port of Philadelphia was idle today pending a meeting of dock workers to discuss the cargo ship Columbia, now at dock at U.S. Steel's Fairless Works.

The International Longshoremen's Union said it was not a strike.

Meanwhile, about 15 members of the International Organization of Masters, Mates, and Pilots began picketing the Fairless plant this morning. They were carrying placards reading, "U.S. Steel Unfair."

Company officials said there was no violence and no interruption of production.

The union is protesting the crew and officer complement aboard the SS Columbia, a converted World War II tanker being used to ship semi-finished products from Fairless Works to the Pittsburgh, Calif. Works for finishing. The vessel is owned by U.S. Steel.

The Columbia arrived at the Fairless plant this morning after unloading its shipment in Pittsburgh.

The crew and officers are (Continued on Page 4, Col. 4)

Sweeps Awards At 'Bands Of Tomorrow' Contest

Wilson's Stage Band Wins 3rd Title In-A-Row

Woodrow Wilson High School's talented stage band made it a record-breaking "three in-a-row" last night as it won the 10th annual "Bands of Tomorrow" contest.

More than 2,000 persons, including about 350 wildly cheering Wilson students, literally "brought the house down" as Director John S. Mack's musicians were adjudged the best over 12 other Delaware Valley area bands.

The contest, sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Philadelphia, was held in the Broadwood Ballroom of the Hotel Philadelphia.

Made History

By winning the contest for the third time — a feat never before accomplished — the Wilson band brought home two permanent awards for its trophy cases.

The Bristol Township musicians retired the Les Brown and Billy Kretschmer revolving trophies and also brought home the Jaycee trophy. In addition, each member of the band received a miniature participation trophy.

Mack, who will be leaving next month to take over direction of music at Pennsbury High School, received the Stan Kenton award as the best director.

Personal Triumph

Many of those in the audience last night looked upon Wilson's success as a personal triumph for Mack whose arrangements and orchestration played a vital role in the judges' decision.

"All the bands were good," (Continued on Page 4, Col. 3)

Woodrow Wilson High School's stage band (pictured above), led by John S. Mack, performs a number enroute to winning its third straight "Bands of Tomorrow" contest. In the bottom photo, Harvey

H. Adams, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Philadelphia, presents trophies to Mack (wearing glasses).

Good Evening!

S.O. Baffling For G.G.G.

Friday the 13th.

The worst that usually happens on this day is the mail being jammed with bills.

Anyway it's a nicer day than we've had in the past few. If no snow falls until next December it still will be too soon.

Astronaut John Glenn reports he will return to his campaign on April 5 with an appearance on television.

Here's a man who went around the world three times at 18,000 miles an hour or so and comes back safely. Then he has an accident in the bathroom that puts him in the hospital for weeks.

The Reds still haven't returned our three fliers or given us much satisfaction about their well being.

It would seem that a bit more pressure will have to be applied to make the Reds give us satisfaction.

Haven't seen much comment on one of the most informative and educational shows television has put on in years. It was Channel three's Concept which depicted pregnancy and birth.

Some fathers reported they learned more about birth than they ever did while their own wives were pregnant.

Bristol, the Cinderella team of the high schools, plays a big one at Reading tonight. Three victories and the Warriors are state champions. However, you have to take them one at a time.

Whoever thought they would get this far.

Definition of an American early settler: Someone who doesn't stay up to watch the Late Late Show.

George School Student's Question Makes National News

A George School student's question precipitated national news yesterday.

In reply to the question concerning a reported feud between Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy and President Johnson, the attorney general denied that there is a rift and said that their relations have always been friendly.

The unidentified student is one of 50 seniors from the school who are on a four-day trip to Washington, D.C. The students, accompanied by four teachers, are visiting many government leaders, including Sens. Joseph

S. Clark and Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania; Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois and Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas. Each of the students visited a senator from his own state and also went to the Russian and Chinese embassies.

Kennedy was one of the persons they were most eager to talk to, Dr. Richard McFeely, school principal, said.

In answering the student's question, the attorney general said of President Johnson, "I have the highest regard for him. Our relations are friendly; they always have been. He has always been kind to me, to my family and to Mrs. Kennedy — both as vice president and since then.

"I have read these reports about a feud. There is no substance to these reports," Kennedy added.

He also appealed to Wisconsin backers of a move to get him the vice presidential bid to discontinue their efforts. He repeated his earlier statements that the presidential nominee should select his running mate.

Basis Of Letters

For the students, it is "not a sight-seeing trip," Dr. McFeely said. They were chosen on the basis of letters they wrote to the school's history department, telling why they would like to go to Washington and whom they would like to see.

The school has sponsored such trips for 25 years. Leading the group this year is Clark D. Moore, chairman of the school history department. The students will return tomorrow evening.

The Levittown Times

Delaware Valley's Greatest Home Newspaper

FRIDAY, MARCH 13, 1964

PAGE 3

Psychiatrist Says Woman Could Imagine Morals Act

FT. DIX, N.J. (UPI)—A New York City psychiatrist testified at the rape court martial of Capt. Eugene Goldman today that a woman could imagine she was raped under the influence of sedatives.

Dr. Cornelia Wilbur, who operates a private practice in New York City, testified as a defense witness at the fourth day of Goldman's court martial.

The prosecution's case was interrupted to permit her to take the stand because of her availability at this time.

Dr. Wilbur responded to questions from chief defense counsel Parnell Callahan about a hypothetical situation involving a woman. The woman described by Callahan resembled one of the three victims allegedly raped or assaulted by Goldman.

Asked if sedatives could produce "an altered state of consciousness," Dr. Wilbur answered, "Yes."

Under cross-examination, however, the psychiatrist said that the woman described in the hypothetical situation did not suffer an hallucination.

Goldman is charged with raping the wives of two service personnel and the attempted rape of a third. Two of the alleged victims already have testified. The third, Mrs. Thelma Hutchinson, 38, wife of a Navy enlisted man, was to take the stand later in the day.

Goldman is the former chief of the urology section at Walsen Army Hospital at the post here.

Gives Testimony

Thursday, Mrs. Carina B. Tilton, 48, wife of a retired Air Force officer and the mother of three children, testified during the third day of the trial.

Mrs. Tilton, of Toms River, N.J., said Goldman attempted to rape her last March 16 on an examining table after he gave her an injection.

"I started feeling numb," she said. "He pushed me down. Things seemed to be happening to me that shouldn't be."

Mrs. Tilton said Goldman then removed her skirt and underclothes but she couldn't resist because she "felt so completely doped."

Then as Goldman started removing his trousers, she said, someone knocked on the door and he stopped.

Mrs. Tilton said the attempted rape happened during her second visit within two weeks to Goldman's office. On the first visit earlier in the month, she said Goldman joked with her and was very friendly.

He also told her there was "a nice comfortable couch" in the psychiatrist's office in the hospital and suggested they go there.

On the second visit, Mrs. Tilton said she was supposed to be x-rayed but she thought something was wrong when she entered the examining room and didn't see any x-ray machine.

Goldman, formerly of Vernon, Conn., is married and the father of two children.

New Mayor Takes Oath In Langhorne Manor

Langhorne Manor has a new mayor.

Named last week by the Langhorne Manor Borough Council, Mayor Thomas T. Janes of 901 Hill Ave., was sworn in last night at ceremonies held at the Borough Council building on Hulmeville Ave.

The borough's former mayor, Dr. Augustus L. Wixon, who was mayor for 22 years, died Feb. 18 after a brief illness.

Mayor Janes retired in 1961 after 45 years in the zinc industry. He was head of the Superior Zinc Co. in Bristol when he retired and was formerly with the New Jersey Zinc Co. and Anaconda Copper Co.

The mayor was a director of the Farmers Bank, now the Fidelity - Philadelphia Trust Co. and is still on its advisory board.

He is a past president of the Bristol Rotary Club and a retired member of the Bristol Elks and Trenton Country Club.

Mayor Janes and Mrs. Janes have two sons and two daughters, all married, and 18 grandchildren.

Langhorne Manor Mayor Thomas R. Janes raises his right hand on being sworn into office by Justice of the Peace Richard W. Damerou (left) as borough council officials look on approvingly. The officials

(from left) are Mrs. William C. Metcalf, secretary, and Councilmen Francis McGinnis, Robert King, Robert Lewis, William Meldrum and Bertie Sylvester, president pro tem. (Courier-Times Photo)

State Eyeing County Land

Weisel Park — a 300-acre tract of county owned land in Upper Bucks may soon be up for sale.

Bucks County Commissioner John J. Bodley said yesterday that the State Department of Forests and Waters is interested in acquiring the land. The tract adjoins state park land and Haycock Mountain.

The county bought the land several years ago for $163,000. A youth hostel and picnic area are located in the park.

Bodley announced the board's intention after the commissioners met with the park board. Bodley said "a great deal of progress" had been made as a result of the talks.

The commissioners told the Park Board the policy now will be not to acquire improved or expensive land. The commissioners asked the board to only acquire open land.

The commissioners are attending a number of briefing sessions designed to acquaint them with the park board's plan for the county.

Foremost among the topics has been the Mill Creek Valley project in Lower Bucks County.

The commissioners indicated that they would keep most of the parkland in the Mill Creek area now under condemnation. This includes the newly condemned 88-acre tract in Middletown Township, owned by Philip VanVossen and William Rossiter.

Dr. Sheppard Bid Denied

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—The Pardon and Parole commission today rejected Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard's bid for freedom and said it would not consider his case until he was eligible for parole this fall.

The action was a surprise, as many principals in Sheppard's conviction of second degree murder for the bludgeoning slaying in 1954 of his wife had recommended he be released from prison.

The rejection of his appeal for reconsideration by the commission came as he pressed for his release under a habeas corpus action in U.S. District Court.

Riemp Issues Warning

Motel Head Fined: Disorderly House

A motel owner was fined in Bucks County Court yesterday after pleading guilty to running a disorderly house in Bensalem Township.

LBJ Visits MacArthur

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson paid an unannounced call on ailing Gen. Douglas MacArthur today at Walter Reed Medical Center.

The visit was supposed to be secret, but word got around the hospital and more than 300 persons were waiting to cheer and applaud the President when he arrived at 11:15 a. m. EST.

Johnson was driven to the back entrance of the hospital's east wing, which includes the third-floor "Ward 8" where MacArthur underwent an operation a week ago.

One of the presidential attendants was carrying a bouquet of flowers for the 84-year-old war hero.

MacArthur is convalescing from the operation and is expected to be able to return to his New York home in less than a month.

At the time of the operation, doctors thought he might have cancer but the surgery disclosed no evidence of the malignancy, they said. His gall bladder and a number of gallstones were removed, however, to alleviate what was described as obstructive jaundice.

Johnson, carrying his coat, smiled broadly as he stepped from his limousine. He was greeted by Brig. Gen. H. S. Murphey, director of the Army medical facility.

Beatles Create 200 New Jobs

SCRANTON, Pa. (UPI)—Yeah! Yeah!

Two hundred new jobs proved some compensation for the shaggy haircuts and teen-age screamers of the Beatles.

Capital Records said today the English mop-top quartet recordings proved so popular it had to expand its payroll to 1,100 persons during January and February, the highest employee-level since it moved record making operations here in 1946.

A new twist in politics in Bristol Township.

The township Democratic organization, at its regular meeting this week, heard from the presidents of the board of commissioners (James N. Kline) and the school board (Dr. Martin J. Rawdin).

After setting forth their aims as leaders of the Democratic-controlled boards, Kline and Dr. Rawdin ably stood their ground answering questions from several of their constituents.

Both expressed hopes they could "hold the line" on taxes, but neither was able to give full assurance their hopes could be realized.

et Evans, the manager, who lives at the motel, were both described by the judge as "lying through their teeth" after they testified regarding three young men and two 14-year-old girls who visited the motel late one night last July.

The youths, all Philadelphians are being held for trial on charges of rape. The girls were turned over to county juvenile authorities.

Both Fined

Rudolph was fined $500 by Judge John P. Fullam and Mrs. Evans $200.

Rudolph testified he only visited his establishment, the Shell Motel, Old Lincoln Highway near Route 1, a couple times a week.

At the hearing it was testified that three youths and the two girls checked in without giving their names and ages, leaving only the number of a license plate on an auto.

It was also testified that during the early morning hours one of the girls came to Mrs. Evans who was working at the desk, to ask for matches.

No Recollections

Mrs. Evans said she had no recollection of the girl or the events of that night.

"Do you often have 14-year-old girls come in and ask for matches at that hour?" Judge Fullam asked the woman.

Testifying for the prosecution were Bensalem Police Chief William F. Riemp, and Sgt. Eugene Ashton of the Bensalem Criminal Investigation Division.

Meanwhile, Riemp warned that police would continue to crack down on Bensalem motel operators who flaunt the law regarding motel registrations.

Inviting Trouble

Riemp said if owners and managers of motels disregard the laws, they are going to invite trouble with their guests and with law enforcement officers.

"We're not going to tolerate any misuse of motel rooms in our township. Motels serve a very useful and necessary purpose as long as they operate as respectable places of business," Riemp said. "Once they start to abuse the privileges their motel licenses entitle them to, it's going to hurt every motel in the area."

3 Women, 2 Men Picked

Selection Of Lil Reis Jury Continues

POTTSVILLE, Pa. (UPI)—Two male jurors — a disabled farmer and a plumber — were accepted today as jurors for the second burglary trial of Philadelphia show girl Lillian Reis.

Edward Shellhammer of New Ringgold, who retired after he was disabled in a farm accident and whose wife is a school teachers, and Will F. Hoy, a plumber from Tremont, were accepted as the fourth and fifth jurors.

Nine were examined before a recess was taken prior to the noon lunch break. The prosecution exercised four preemptory challenges during the morning questioning, for a total of 10. The defense has used seven.

The brunette defendant wore a form fitting olive dress with matching scarf and a black belt and again wore her neck brace for the morning session.

Three women were selected at the opening session yesterday of the trial for the sultry Miss Reis, charged with murdering a mysterious 1959 burglar at the home here of coal magnate John B. Rich.

Police contend a burglary gang got $478,000 in the burglary of the rich mansion but the victim set the loot at $20,000 in cash and jewelry.

of Shenandoah, a housewife and mother of eight children.

The prospective jurors were sequestered when the afternoon session started yesterday and those chosen also were barred from the trial room.

Miss Reis, clad yesterday in a plaid skirt and canary sweater, wore a neck brace for a time because of a pinched nerve but took it off during the afternoon session.

'Jake' Sgro, Barber, Dies

Funeral services for John (Jake) Sgro, 47, of 1146 Parkway Ave., Trenton, will be held at 8 a.m. Monday from the Celini Funeral Home, 931 Princeton Ave., Trenton. Solemn Requiem Mass will be celebrated at St. James Church at 9 a.m. with interment at St. Mary's Cemetery. Calling hours will be 7 to 9 p.m. tomorrow and Sunday.

Mr. Sgro was proprietor of the Levittown Barber Shop in the Levittown Shopping Center. He died Wednesday afternoon at Helene Fuld Hospital, Trenton.

Born in Pittston, Pa., he lived in the Trenton area for the last 25 years. He formerly operated a barber shop on Brunswick Ave., Trenton, for about 20 years.

Mr. Sgro was secretary-treasurer of the Journeymen Barbers' Union, a member of the Levittown Businessmen's Association, Trenton Aerie 100, Fraternal Order of Eagles, and the Ewing Township Democratic Club. He was a veteran of World War II.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Jean Lunetta Sgro; a daughter, Miss Elvira; a son, Joseph; two brothers, Anthony Marzola of Pittston Pa., and Samuel Marzola of Tampa, Fla.; four sisters, Mrs. Richard Martina, Mrs. Dominic Gregorio, and Mrs. Eugene Betz, all of Newark, and Mrs. Paul Piccolo of Bristol.

8 To 10-Mill Tax Hike Seen In Middletown

Middletown Township school real estate taxes will go up eight or 10 mills this year, two usually reliable sources revealed yesterday.

Taxes presently stand at 61 mills.

One source said a rise of 10 mills would mean about $35 more for a person owning a Levittown Jubilee. A total tax of 71 mills for this same person would be $213.50.

The final budget of the Neshaminy School District, of which Middletown Township is a part, has not yet been submitted to the joint board. The district administration is presently attempting to bring the budget of $6,480,000 down to the $6 million ceiling stipulated by the joint board. But, according to one of the sources, the tax hike will be at least eight mills regardless of the budget revisions.

Falls Demos Back Blatt

The Falls Township Democratic Party last night unanimously endorsed Secretary of Internal Affairs Genevieve Blatt for U.S. Senator.

The Democrats said they believed Miss Blatt had the best chance of the three candidates to beat incumbent Hugh Scott.

Miss Blatt is campaigning for the Democratic nomination for Senator in the April 28 primaries. She is opposing Supreme Court Justice Michael A. Musmanno and David B. Roberts, prothonotary of Allegheny County.

In backing Miss Blatt, the Falls Democrats said that she had done a great deal for the township as secretary of internal affairs.

Falls now joins the Bucks County Democratic Executive Committee and the Bristol Township Democratic organization in endorsing Miss Blatt.

Musmanno is backed by most of the Democratic organization's 67 county chairmen.

Births

Lower Bucks Hospital

March 11

Mr. and Mrs. Alva Beacham, 742 South Olds Boulevard, Fairless Hills, girl.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas MacCombie, 36 Sunset Lane, Levittown, girl.

March 12

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Black, 5 Fireside Lane, Levittown, girl.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Miller, 72 Edgewood Lane, Levittown, girl.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Crockenberg, 503 Harding Ave., Feasterville, boy.

Also Provide Transportation

Summer Pupils To Pay Own Costs In Township

By SCOOP LEWIS
Courier-Times Staff Writer

Students attending summer school in Bristol Township won't get their money back this year and they'll have to provide their own transportation.

That was the decision of the township school board last night as it voted to put the program on a self-sustaining basis.

Also, the board put the township's adult school on a "pay-as-you-go" basis by voting to discontinue refunding fees.

Based on figures presented by Lewis A. Kohn, coordinator of extension education, the school board said it would save $6,779.90 by putting the summer school on a self-sustaining basis.

One director, John F. Hess, objected to discontinuance of refunds. "This is peanuts compared to the way we're throwing money away," he declared.

"I suppose they'll make the kindergarten program a paying proposition due to the fact it's not mandatory," he added.

Hess claimed that denying township students refunds from summer school fees is creating a "private school in the public school system."

This summer, the program will cost resident students, from seventh through 12th grade experience, $15 for one two-hour course and $30 for two two-hour courses.

The fees for non-residents will be $20 and $40.

Last year the fees were returned to most of the 1,086 students. The refunds amounted to $14,040. After expenses of salaries were taken out, the summer school wound up costing the township a deficit of $9,603, Kohn reported.

If refunds has not been issued, Kohn's report showed, the township would have had a credit balance of $4,437.

Kohn last night presented two summer school plans for 1964. One, using state reimbursement of $11,076.10 based on 1,200 students, would cost the township $6,779.90. The other plan, with students paying their way, would give the district a balance of $308.

Transportation costs for summer school were estimated at $4,000. The board, by split 5-3 votes (one member was absent), defeated two motions calling for transportation of pupils.

As for the adult school, the fees will remain at $10 for both resident and non-resident students. This passed, 8-0. Last year 256 adults took part in the program with $1,330 refunded to 133 students. The program wound up with a $50 deficit, Kohn noted.

By retaining the present deposit fees with no refunds, Kohn said the adult school would wind up with a balance of $2,260, based on 1963-64 enrollments which were 358 resident students and 116 non-resident.

Weather

FAIR TOMORROW

FORECAST: Sunny and mild today, high about 50. Fair to night, low 30-35. Tomorrow, fair and warm, high in 60s, followed by rain tomorrow night. Rain Sunday morning, clearing late in day, continued mild.

High yesterday: 35.
Low yesterday: 28.
Low this morning: 31.

Sunset tonight: 6:04 p.m.
Sunrise tomorrow: 6:13 a.m.
Sunset tomorrow: 6:05 p.m.